To Any Prospective Employer:

It pleased me amidst my manifold pressures as manager to know I could rely on Gerald E. Morris as a worker of impeccable integrity, honesty, and reliability, who consistently performed above the standards established as good for our company.

In addition to rising to the interpersonal and political challenges of his actual job as a political canvasser, Mr. Morris demonstrated on a number of occasions clearly superior Information Technology skills, saving my office much downtime and money. I can with the utmost confidence assure anyone considering Mr. Morris for a technological position that they will hire a man capable of asking the right questions, then doing whatever needs be done once he has his answers.

He would be an asset to any employer and I recommend him for any endeavor he chooses to pursue.

Sincerely,

Ignacio G. Romero
